Carole van Almelo

Carole is a new media and web developer, graphic designer and illustrator, with a fine arts degree from the Rhode Island School of Design.

How I Came to the Fractal Art Project

Carole noticed The Fractal Project which is housed at "Developer Town". DT is an innovative, Indianapolis-based company that helps entrepreneurs and enterprises design, develop, and launch new web and mobile products.

Artist Statement

I love art and I love math. These disciplines are usually opposites. How wonderful to find a project that combines the two. I have also come to enjoy the satisfaction of making and completing a gorgeous piece of art from something so basic as paper.